THE COMMITTEE MEETING.

What the Republican State Execung last night has caused much more so, however. The comduty until the members themselves see proper to resign or until the peo- why let it be bidden?" ple who elected them express such Imbued with this spirit he members of the committee spent the four hours of the session in discassing the conditions in the various sections of the State and the best sional election had taught his people the Republican party at next fall's forget. In speaking of the new tax The committee recognizes, and cheerfully so, that the Republican party stands pledged to bring about true tax reform as laid down the land commissioners were made by resolution at the last State convention at Wheeling. That will be the County Court, and those were in the dominant issue of next year's consequential. Tucker's record is compaign, and this committee expresses the highest confidence in the State on that score ower of the Republican party to win tory of West Virginia politics. While ing, the feeling of the committee, as expressed privately by members outside of the committee room, was that campaign next year will be carried on in the usual way regardless of how the heathen rage or the in surgents imagine vain things. It will be a Republican victory when won and that will be sufficient reward for those who stand the brunt of the battle. In due time headquar ters will be opened, a literary bureau established and the Democrats given such a drubbing as only that party meantime, let Republicans where shine up their steel and adjust ## their armor for the fray. REESE BLIZZARD AGAIN.

The Republican State committee held a meeting Wednesday at Fairmont to decide upon a line of campulsin and to bury old animosities It appears to be somewhat early in the game for such work, but the old in a family racket that the leaders knew it was up to them to get to-On the question of taxation there is a wide divergence of apinion and how the bosses will settle it is hard to tell. Perhaps, all will join glad hands in saying that the new tax laws are immaculate and it is right for the people to abide by them and not kick. But the insurgents are the regulars will have to stand for. The recent appointment of Blizzard district attorney shattered the hopes of the White-Dawson com bine and they know full well must yield. Every move by the leaders of the party is against the Dawson tax laws. And still some editors are foolish enough to say the are all right.-Cfarksburg News.

The News gives us an opportunity to state more emphatically than ever that Reese Blizzard and his Insurgent cohorts are on their last legs. Sena tor Elkins has in his possession a number of letters from Blizzard mak ing concessions and promises that no one except a man whipped to a finish would make in order that he might be spared the humiliation of not being re-appointed. Senator Elkins evidently sympathized with Blizzard in his distress and felt that the insurgent leader would be less harmful in offic and under obligations to him, than out of office backed by the corporations and the whiskey interests heace the appointment, President Roosevelt at one time had practical but, when this other phase of the question was presented, it was thought by those in power that it might be best to disarm Blizzard by handing him a reappointment. So it happens that Blizzard is unborsed, maurgents are Jeaderless and the onward march to victory is easy for the regular Republican party in Wes Virginia. Under these conditions as we have before stated, we are no ntirely unwilling for Blizzard to
